

Name: Chris Case

Club/Team: Sonic Boom Racing, Feedback Sports

Day Job:

- Editor and designer of Trail & Timberline, the magazine of the Colorado Mountain Club
- Research Assistant, University of Denver, Department of Psychology
- Research and Assessment Specialist, University of Colorado, Department of Psychology and Neuroscience

Non-profit experience:

- The Jane Goodall Institute, communications associate, 2005
- Bradford Washburn American Mountaineering Museum, creative director, 2006-2008
- Colorado Mountain Club, marketing director, 2008-2010
- Colorado Mountain Club, editor/designer, 2008-present

Racing experience:

- Category 2, road (racing since 2004)
- Category 1, cyclocross (racing since 2005)

Biography:

After graduating from Colgate University with a degree in neuroscience, Chris spent two years as a research fellow at the National Institute of Mental Health. After moving to Colorado, he conducted research at the University of Colorado Health Sciences Center. Then, a series of events led him to pursue a master's degree in journalism at the University of Texas in Austin. It was in graduate school that Chris began racing competitively. He returned to Colorado in 2006 and has been racing and riding ever since. He recently returned to the field of psychology and plans to pursue a Ph.D in the near future.