

Koppenberg Circuit

New for 2009 –

A Tour of Colorado event

Sunday, August 30th, 2009

Course: Koppenberg Circuit. A 5.5 mile road race circuit, 300 ft elevation gain per lap including 2 miles of dirt road. Also includes a very short, but very steep dirt climb, 17%. Road bikes with a 23 or 25 size tire are fine for the course. Easier gearing (25 or 27 rear cog) is recommended for the hill.

New Rules: We are CHANGING THE RULES. If you are not aware, the Koppenberg is a very unique and special event for Colorado and unfortunately, the hill, its special trait, becomes unrideable with too much rain. We have had to cancel and reschedule the race in past b/c of mud but in order to ensure the future success of the event it cannot be cancelled in the future. Therefore, the race will no longer be canceled b/c of mud. In the future, if the hill is unrideable, then the expectation is that riders will hike the bike up the grassy sides and remount on top. So this means it is highly recommended that if it is wet outside, you bring Mountain Bike shoes and pedals. We will investigate footbath options (seriously) on top of the hill in case of mud on the cleats before remounting.
